II. OTHER ACTIVITIES

b. Recently I received a call from [redacted] asking if we could provide for DPD training in depth in desert survival. I stated that we had no capability and that insofar as I know both the Army and the Air Force have deactivated their desert survival training centers. I suggested, however, that DPD address a memorandum to you requesting that we investigate the matter for them. On 20 April I asked Miss [redacted] to contact Lt. Colonel [redacted] of the Special Projects Division, USAF, who has worked with us on E&E and related subjects

25X1A9a in the past, and to determine from him whether or not the Air Force 25X1A9a could provide desert survival training materials for us in case of need. Miss [REDACTED] learned that "officers of CIA" had contacted him in a rather confused manner requesting desert survival training. TK [REDACTED] indicated that he prefers our channel and is looking into the matter for us. He will contact Miss [REDACTED] and tell her the 25X1A9a manner in which to make the request and to whom it should be addressed.

25X1A9a c. On 17 April I interviewed Captain [REDACTED] 25X1A9a USAF, who is highly recommended by [REDACTED] as a 25X1A9a pilot and staff officer. He made an excellent impression on me, and Major [REDACTED] is looking into the possibility of his being assigned here as a replacement for [REDACTED] is presently 25X1A9a on duty with MATS.

25X1A9a d. On 20 April [REDACTED] and I discussed in detail our proposed operational refresher program. We gave her a copy of breakdown of content and the draft of a notice or memorandum describing the course and setting forth the prerequisites 25X1A9a for it. She will submit it to [REDACTED] and to several other senior clandestine services officers who have indicated an interest in such training and will forward their comments to you. Briefly, we propose a two weeks full-time program covering operational security and related aspects of clandestine operations for persons who have had training in the past and, after service at headquarters, are going to field assignments.
